摘要

Regional integration is an important development to the global economy. As Taiwan and China signed up the Economic Cooperation Framework Agreement (ECFA), it became a new landmark for cross-strait economic relationship. Also, there is a structural change of supply chain in the Greater China Economic Zone. However, apart from welcoming the business opportunities brought by ECFA, the vacancy problem of logistics talent's "quality" and "quantity" is actually followed and more serious. In the beginning of this research, there is a brief description of Taiwan logistics hotspot, "Institute of International Logistics Practice Training", which was launched in 2009 in Taoyuan County. Then, the training advantages and features will be presented through analyzing the differences between this logistic training platform and the traditional training mode. Furthermore, we will propose a suggestion of the collaborative logistics talent training for the cross-strait companies, which is following the ECFA rules. Therefore, we have a highly expectation that this valuable subject could be fully discussed by attendants of this Cross-strait PhD Student Academic Forum.
