Predicament and Problems of Academy of Classical Learning in Colleges

Sue-Ting Shy

Abstract

The academies of classical learning were started since Tang Dynasty and flourished during Sung Dynasty in China. The main spirit of these academies was inherited from Confucian ethics. The educators attached importance to good faith, moral character, etc.

Now, the goals of college are teaching the knowledge of specialized fields and focus on the skills of jobs. The duty of intellectuals has been lost for a long time. Therefore, academies of classical learning were started again several years ago. Trying to give students the values of formal ages through living together and study together. But many problems rise. In this study, I will discuss the predicament of academies of classical learning in colleges. Knowing the problems we faced can give a way for the development of academies of classical learning.
