摘要

This article focuses on interview to gather information, to test the issues raised in this study and to propose strategies for the differences between the Toufen business district and the Nanzhuang tourist area. How should urban and rural areas develop their own "governance" model, and how to develop mutual "cooperation" and "support" between them? Mr. Kuang have served in the Toufen branch for nearly 20 years and have obtained practical experience and research experience from this branch with facing problems regarding the population impact of the town, and tourism development in the Nanzhuang tourist area. In addition to service in these main areas Mr. Kuang also have valuable experience with interviewing Toufen mayor, and finding common ground between the police and the public. Based upon the findings, some proposals are put forward for the police and neighborhood watch research and development strategies and reflections :

1. Actively focus on development of new strategy.
2. Arouse the consensus of the local government and local communities.
3. Upgrade the local self-governing capacity to promote the regional competitive advantages.
4. Promote the spirit of enterprise management.
